

Kari-Lynn Hastman

Classic Piano, Performance,
Technique & Theory, Sight
Reading, & College Prep

Kari-Lynn was born in Alberta, Canada and has been driven by music ever since she was a little girl. She is a classically trained Pianist. She has top of the line education from the Royal Conservatory of Music (the equivalent to Julliard here in the United States) for Piano, Theory, History and Harmony. Through this, she provides all of her students with the essential knowledge and practice that they need in order to reach their musical goals!

She has proven excellent leadership skills and received the Maxwell Leadership Certification which adds another layer to her teaching capabilities. Through the years, she has helped countless students reach their musical goals ever since she started teaching in 1990. Her teaching style explores various styles such as classical, baroque, romantic, and modern genres. Through her curriculum, she is able to understand each of her students' goals and walk with them as they advance through each stage. She also guides them through Performance, Technique & Theory, Sight Reading, and ultimately College prep for those pursuing music as a profession.

For those students who love to perform, she has experience as a Music Director through Weed Music in Alberta, Canada as well as various other public music recitals. This allows her to point students in the right direction and prepare them for live audiences.

Kari-Lynn has a strong passion for music and loves to share that through her teaching by providing them with a structured and yet fun curriculum. Her students will get to exercise their talents while falling in love with music!
